More LCTI students qualify for state FBLA competition
Five teens finished among Top 10 in Web design, game design, other categories

SCHNECKSVILLE, Pa. | Five more Lehigh Career & Technical Institute students are heading to the Pennsylvania FBLA 2016 State Leadership Conference after earning high marks on work they submitted for evaluation earlier this year.

In order to secure a berth at the state leadership conference, scheduled April 11-13 in Hershey, students had to notch a Top 10 finish. The following Web Design/Web Programming students are slated to represent LCTI in the categories indicated:

- Jaileen Cortes-Soto, Louis E. Dieruff High School
  Game Design & Simulation Programming

- Samantha Hoffer, Northwestern Lehigh High School
  Web Design

- Jeffrey Reed, Emmaus High School
  Web Design

- Jacob Smith, Emmaus High School
  Desktop Application Programming

- Joshua Tulloch, Catasauqua High School
  Game Design & Simulation Programming

These five students join 13 of their peers who learned in January that they qualified for the state leadership conference after competing in a regional event at Lehigh Carbon Community College.

The FBLA-PBL, or Future Business Leaders of America-Phi Beta Lambda, is one of seven Career & Technical Student Organizations at LCTI. Administrative Office Technology/Accounting instructor Elaine Beam serves as the chapter advisor.
