Four LCTI students win top prizes at HOSA event
Emmaus, Parkland, Southern Lehigh seniors now head to international competition

SCHNECKSVILLE, Pa. | Four Lehigh Career & Technical Institute students are heading southwest this summer after notching first-place finishes at the Pennsylvania HOSA Leadership Conference.

Students’ wins at the state event, held March 9-11 in Lancaster, qualified them for the HOSA International Leadership Conference to be held June 22-25 in Nashville, Tennessee. All of this year’s qualifiers are students in LCTI’s Emerging Health Professionals program. They are:

Sanjay Deel, Southern Lehigh High School
Creative Problem Solving Team

Matthew Kermit, Emmaus High School
Creative Problem Solving Team

Emilanna Kim, Parkland High School
Epidemiology

Elton Veseli, Emmaus High School

HOSA – Future Health Professionals is one of seven career and technical student organizations at LCTI. Dental Technology instructor Cindy Heil serves as the chapter advisor.
